

Client

Private Residence.
Auckland.

Project requirements

Situated in a rural location where a pool fence was required to blend in with the landscaped gardens to create a 'park like' feel, whilst incorporating glass sections to maintain an open aspect when looking out from the house and deck. The pool compliance needed to include the various structures around the pool, with symmetry wherever possible.

Warner recommendation

A combination of semi frameless glass (D clamp) was used on the house side, to provide a see through barrier, while the rear sections of the pool used powder coated aluminium, in Edinburgh III style to create the back drop. All materials where colour matched using a powder coated Ironsand finish.

Outcome

Unobtrusive yet functional design that responds well to the challenge of various levels while providing visual interest.
